HSWA COMPLIANCE

"Preparing your workplace to deal with an emergency is not a new requirement. We're not asking you to do anything above and beyond what you're already expected to do under the HSE Act and that's to identify and manage hazards. However, you do need to continue to be mindful about new or emerging information. When in doubt, get professional advice."

- WORKSAFE NZ - Dec 2013

The Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 imposes an active duty on those in a governance role to pro-actively manage workplace health and safety. The new laws also impose a due diligence role on officers and directors with regard to health and safety.

All of our services include supporting documentation to assist officers and directors demonstrate due diligence for HSWA compliance.
